But together, we have it all.

sermon series
november 8 - november 22

Join us for worship next Sunday, Nov. 22nd for the last week of our "This Is Us" sermon series. This 3 week series explores what it means to be part of a church family. On this last week we will focus on how a church family is committed to loving God and one another.

WEEK 2:

Big Idea: A church is a family where the pain of one becomes the pain of all and the joy of one becomes the joy of all, showing authentic empathy for one another. As we share in our joys and sorrows, we build the caring community that Jesus envisioned. At its best, the church is a committed, genuine community that provides a sense of belonging where people can experience God's love and deepen their relationship with God through all the joys and trials we face.

Application & Reflection:

1. How can a church family support one another in their joys and sorrows?
2. In what ways have you received support from the church family?
3. How may God be calling you to engage deeper with your church family and build more relationships?

Prayer: Faithful God, we are grateful for our church family and the authentic relationships we have made. Help us to be more open about our joys and sorrows with others so they can support us more fully. Guide us to be a support to others through the ups and downs of life. Amen.
